Sales tax, local and private bills pass

BY TRACI BONNEY Recent action in the State egislature made a sales tax icrease law and sent bills dealng with bingo limits and board-ng fees to the governor. Both chambers of the Legisature overrode Gov. Kirk Forlice's veto of a one-percent sales ax increase early this week to make the measure a law. It will go into effect June 1.

In the House, 80 votes were needed to override the veto; the override passed with 82 votes. In the Senate, 32 votes were needed; 40 were cast to override.

In addition to raising the sales tax from six to seven

Sen. Vic Franckiewicz, who helped write the proposal, said, "Illegal commercial bingo operations have been draining millions of dollars from legitimate non-profit organizations, and this bill should put an end to the problem.'

The bill gives the State Gaming Commission jurisdiction over regulating bingo operations; limits bingo games to no more than two sessions a day of five hours each, or no more than eight times a week, with operators who run only one session a week able to conduct the games for six hours; and limits cents, the new law eliminates a taxpayer's ability to deduct the previous year's state income tax from current returns. However, the law also eliminates the three percent tax on soft drink bottlers.

This means that while the state expects to lose $10 million in revenue from the soft drink bottlers tax, it anticipates gaining $10 million from the state income tax measure, which will offset the loss, and another $166 million from the sales tax increase.

Rep. J.P. Compretta, who voted for the bill package, commented, "Being a legislator, it's never easy to vote for any type of tax increase. However, after studying the state's situation carefully, I felt that we needed to find some more money for education

"The bill will provide money not only for students in kindergarten through 12th grade, but also for the community colleges, colleges and universities. This money is for the basic things our students need to do well: books,

Dockside update

Bay Cove moving, Bayou Caddy on hold

BY TRACI BONNEY

While Bay Cove's new owner, Marlin Torguson, has his gaming license in hand, Bayou Caddy's officers have asked that their application be held until June, according to State Gaming Commission director Royal Torguson, who appeared at the Bay St. Louis City Council meeting Tuesday, introduced his new general manager, Al Kokesch, and gave the councilmen copies of the gaming license like a proud father passing out cigars.

Torguson told the Council Kokesch will run the Bay Cove casino as general manager, with Len Krick as assistant general manager.

Kokesch said he is pleased with what he's seen so far. "I know this is going to be tremendously successful. I'm seeing a real enthusiasm all around town, and we're beginning to have some momentum

"Len has put an advertisement in a Las Vegas paper to let Mississippi people working there know we're opening up here. We haven't been advertising much locally, because we're getting 30 applications a day without it.

"I'm excited to be here. I appreciate the work you've done here the last two years," he told the Council.

Torguson added the ad in the Las Vegas paper is not to "draw in a bunch of people. We're looking for a few people in key management positions who used to live here and want to move

Decorum ordinance to rule Waveland meetings

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

As of Tuesday, anyone disrupting a Waveland City meeting will be ejected and/or prosecuted as described by the unanimously approved decorum

The ordinance, drafted by Mayor Stella Frilot, claimed need for the maintenance and enforcement of proper decorum at future city meetings. City attorney Lucien Gex stated the purpose of the ordinance was to stop unwarranted input, such as people shouting out remarks, along with other forms of disorder.

He added it will not affect the public's ability to be heard by the board with proper notification.

Gex, responding to a question by Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman, said the ordinance would supersede Robert's Rules of Order, the presently

The ordinance defines rules of decorum as: —All persons shall be courteous and respectful in their manner and speech when addressing the meeting or any person in attendance at the meeting;

—All persons shall abide by the rulings of the mayor or presiding officer at the meeting. Objections to rulings shall be stated politely and c cisely without prolonged or inflammatory speech making;

—All meetings shall follow the prescribed agenda except when a departure is approved by a majority vote of aldermen;

-Debate or comment on any issue shall be reasonably limited at the discretion of the mayor DECORUM-Page 3A

HNCE to be divided between administrators

BY JACQUI COCHRAN Hancock North Central

Elementary School will have two principals next year in an attempt to better serve the school.

District school board members approved Monday a proposal to divide the school into separate administrations beginning the school year of 1992-93. Administrators will be designated as primary (K-3) and intermediate (4-6) principals.

HNC principal Bettye McLeod explained the reasoning for the move would be to improve administrative involvement by designation of smaller staffs and student population.

McLeod would assume the role of primary principal and Denise Wilkinson, HNC assistant principal, would become intermediate principal.

Both women said grade selections were a matter of personal interest and professional

"The idea was proposed to us several years ago," Wilkinson commented. "We talked about it, but with the high school still being here, it was just impossible to get it off the ground.

"Since Mrs. McLeod and I have begun work on the proposal we have found the staff to be very responsive to the idea.

"The whole idea is just blooming into a great program."

McLeod described a typical staff meeting at HNC as discouraging on personal input. "It is difficult to hear someone speaking when that many people are spread out in a room, much less encourage comment.

Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois stated, under the Card of Thanks

The sixth annual Salute to Business and Industry, held April 24 at the Diamondhead Country Club, recognized some of the outstanding individuals and companies in Hancock

The program, which attracted approximately 200 people, was sponsored by the Port and Harbor Commission, the Board of Supervisors and the Chamber of Commerce. However, the annual salute would not be successful without the continuing support of our county's business community and elected officials.

In connection with this year's program, the first Hancock County Business and Industry Directory was published to help 'keep business at home. Among those who contributed to the publication is Mississippi Power Company, which printed the text and helped sponsor the directory.

Other valuable sponsors are Coast Electric Power Association, Con-Tech Power Systems, GE Plastics, Gulf Coast Business Services Corp., Hancock Bank, Pearl River Community College and The Peoples Bank.

This directory will be updated annually to make it the most useful tool available to existing businesses and new companies which locate in Hancock County.

Our thanks also go to the Sea Coast Echo for its support and coverage of this important community event.

Wanted: Litter offenders

Waveland offers $100 reward for information

we should follow.'

BY JACQUI COCHRAN Waveland has declared war on litter within city limits by offering a $100 reward to anyone assisting in the conviction of litter offenders.

Approved by the Board of Aldermen Tuesday is a litter ordinance which includes a minimum fine of $50 and a reward of $100 to be paid to anyone providing information leading to the arrest and conviction of litter violators.

Mayor Stella Frilot stated funds for the rewards were to be additional to the fines set by the judge upon conviction.

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman requested the stipulation be included in the ordinance, or the minimum fine be set at $100 to cover the cost of the reward.

Ward 1 Alderman Barbara Rappold said there was no need to spell it out in the ordinance since the judge will be notified and subsequently adjust the fine to include the cost of the reward.

The board approved the ordinance with Weidman dissenting.

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell stated reports of littering will basically be one person's word against another's; but taking car tag numbers and giving descriptions of the people involved will strengthen a case. "Hopefully," he added, "this will be a start, and it will catch on. If nothing else, one or two convictions, and it may act as a deterrent."

"At this time," Bourgeois added, "there will be no change in salaries. The main thing is to get the system in place and the two women into the areas where they feel most comfortable.

"I really feel the children will benefit from the new arrangements."

Saturday afternoon will bring a big Spring Fashion Show benefit for the March of Dimes.

The event will take place at the Waveland Resort Inn's Galley Restaurant beginning at 1 p.m.

I have been told it will be a very good affair and the purchase of a ticket includes lunch.

Jay Lagasse is Hancock County's chairman for the March of Dimes, with Betsy Ashman, vice-chairman; and Ida Macuick, secretary. Styles will be by Yellow Bird and hair fashions by Trend Setters.

I am hoping there will be a big turnout for this fashion show, as the March of Dimes is a very important organization.

Research on infant mortality and birth defects continue to be the focus of the March of Dimes; in addition to educational programs specifically for the younger

A prime goal of the March of Dimes is healthier

Tickets are available at Trend Setters, Yellow Bird, Hancock Insurance and Coast Electric, or at the door for a donation of $10 each.

There will be door prizes.

FROM THE SENATE

Practice what you preach

President George Bush has issued a sweeping government change proposal designed to reform Government as it now functions and operates. He said that the institution of Congress should be governed by the same laws it imposes on the rest of America, and I say, "Why not?"

Every day, the people of Mississippi and America see blatant new examples of a federal government that is out of control. The papers and the evening newscasts are full of news about a Congress that has been stagnated by scandals. This is a game plan which deals with the problems and has the credibility to shake up the status quo.

Elements of the President's proposal include:

-Requires Congress to govern itself by the same laws it imposes on others, including minimum wage laws, antidiscrimination laws, ethics rules, the Freedom of Information Act and privacy protection;

-Reform the bloated congressional committee system that paralyzes the ability of Congress to act on important legislation;

-Reduce the influence of special interest groups by eliminating Political Action Committees (PAC's);

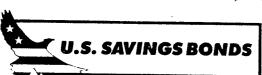

-Pass a Balanced Budget Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and implement lineitem spending cuts to prevent excessive government spending;

-Eliminate unnecessary and burdensome government regulations that strangle free enterprise and hinder the creation of jobs.

Not a bad list of proposals in my opinion, especially requiring elected officials of this country to abide by the laws they impose. By saying they don't, is a slap in the face of the American voter, and I believe you'd have a hard time finding one voter anywhere that didn't agree with this proposal.

The President also makes a good point by saying we need a balanced budget. How long will this uncontrolled federal spending to on by the Congress before it's too far gone to be fixed? The budget has to be balanced and it has to be balanced now.

Government should be more thrifty and less involved, and it should have to live by the old saying of practice what you preach. This is a good proposal which I intend to support.

CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Special orders, disservice to taxpayers and Congress

On most any given weekday, millions of Americans tune in to C-Span to watch television coverage of the House of Representatives. The service, which has been made available to the American public for more than a dozen years has done more good than anyone could have imagined when the idea was presented to Congress in the late 1970's.

However, the service has been misused, costing taxpayers millions. The injustice to taxpayers and Congress can be easily seen minutes after the House has adjourned for the

for many hours each week, after the House has adjourned, members give special orders. Special orders is the practice of nembers pretending that they are speaking to Congress when the television cameras show that in most cases, the only people in the Chamber are salaried employees of the House of Representatives.

During this time, most, if not all members have returned to their offices and are still hard at work answering mail, returning phone calls and taking care of legislative business. Unfortunately, that is not the perception back home. The citizen's first response is, "Where is MY Congressman?"

Before the advent of House television coverage, special orders were rare. They were mainly used to give tribute to retiring members or offer eulogies at the end of the legislative working day.

Today, the majority of special orders have little to do with members being honored and most members who do use the privilege talk about anything but the serious business of legislating.

Moreover, many people have often complained it is often difficult to distinguish special orders from actual legislative business.

I believe we should end this practice and I have authored a bill to do so. If members want to address the public, fine, but it should not be at the expense of the taxpayer. It hurts the image of Congress and is a waste of money.

If the House adopts my proposal, which I am confident they will, members will be allowed to speak directly to the public on vital issues after the day's work is finished, but it won't be at the expense of the American taxpayer.

Instead of presenting special orders in the House Chamber, I have suggested that a small room be set aside in the Capitol to accommodate members and C-Span crews. I am all in favor of members being allowed to talk to the public if C-Span wants to cover it, just as long as it's not under the pretense of speaking to the House and at taxpayers' expense.

Turning out the lights early would save taxpayers the cost of paying the salaries of House employees (usually 8-10) that must be present during special orders. Moreover, I have encouraged the House to discontinue the practice of reprinting special orders in the Congressional Record. Though all of us would like to be remembered, I think that the $500 per page cost of printing these speeches could be better spent elsewhere, or better yet, saved.

Failing the test

Mississippi faced a multiplechoice examination this week, and we failed the test.

Here's the question: State government is out of control. The General Fund Budget has been overspent in seven out of ten years; the number of employees on the state payroll has increased by 4,000 in the pats four years; taxes have increased by some $300 million annually in the past ten

How do you manage the state's money? CHECK ONE on the General Fund but setpriorities for the use of the money. You hold the line on taxes. D. _ You increase taxes, again, and forget about control of government and the priorities of government. If you checked "D" as your answer, you failed the test; but, your answer was consistent with the answer of the Mississippi Legislature. They, too, chose to increase taxes and forget about control of the expenditures and priorities of government. And, the Legislature failed the test.

Sales tax increase is marked to fund education

Both the Senate and the House of Representatives overrode Gov. Fordice's veto on package raises $166 million, finances education, provides property tax relief, and trims fat from state government. Additionally, the bill includes educational reform to implement some of the "America 2000" education goals.

This bill is a complete departure from the way we usually work. Instead of just promising money, this bill requires the money to go to education. For the first time, Mississippians will know exactly how the new dollars are spent:

$61.6 million to public schools for building renovations and repair, transportation, textbooks, classroom supplies, and for equity funding. $23 million to Mississippi's public universities.

$15 million to our community and junior colleges.

$5.5 million for other educational enhancements $25 million to the stabilization reserve fund. $30 million to reduce local property taxes that fund public schools. $1 million to municipalities. $4.9 million for other needs.

The bill also includes tax relief. We removed a 3% tax on soft drinks. We also reduced the amount a local school district could increase property tax without voter approval. The figure is reduced from 7% to 2% until 1995, to 3% until 1997, and 4% thereafter.

A major feature of the bill will have tremendous long term benefits because it will downsize the educational bureaucracy and state government. Under the bill, state government must reduce its workforce by 2% each year for the next five years. Also, local school districts must cut non-instructional costs by 9% over a four-year period. Finally, the bill includes some significant educational Senate Bill 3120. This revenue reforms. One is called the Mississippi Report Card which will grade each district and each school in the state on annual performance. Another is the requirement for community and parental participation in the schools. Still others are pilot programs to improve student performance in the early grades.

President's Bush's America 2000 education program. Overall, this revenue package is a good piece of legislation. None of us in the legislature like the additional sales tax, but it is the only way we have left to get our educational programs back

Many of these program will help Mississippi implement on track. I might add that even with the new revenue, we will still have to cut many budgets because the new money is earmarked for education, not for the general costs of government.

The new Charitable Bingo Law passed both houses by overwhelming majorities. Illegal commercial bingo operations have been draining millions of dollars from legitimate nonprofit organizations, and this bill should put an end to the problem.

Veteran organizations and charities throughout the state fought hard for this bill. They successfully beat the lobbyists paid by the illegal, criminal bingo operators. Our community should be proud of how hard a number of local people worked to make this bill a reality.

This session is just about over, and I will be returning to the Coast in a few days. In future columns, I will cover the major pieces of legislation signed into law in more detail.

■ WASHINGTO REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

New wildlife refuge areas

The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission has approved additions to two wildlife refuges in Mississippi, U.S. Senator Thad Cochran said.

Cochran, a member of the commission, said approval was given for the purchase of additional acres within the approved boundaries of the refuges at a Washington meeting. "These acquisitions are significant additions to our refuges in Mississippi," said Cochran.

The commission approved the purchase of 3,237 acres for the Morgan Brake National Wildlife Refuge in Holmes County and 1,138 acres for the Tallahatchie National Wildlife Refuge in Northwest Mississippi.

"The refuges are vital as habitats for wintering waterfowl and other migratory birds," the senator added.

The Migratory Bird Commission, created in 1934, approves the acquisition of migratory bird habitats recommended by the Secretary of Interior. The major source of funding for the acquisition program is the revenue received from the sale of the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps, commonly known as duck stamps. Commission membership includes two members of Congress, two United States senators and administrators of the U.S. Forest Service, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Interior.

Waveland policemen commended for restraint

Dear Editor,

A friend and I witnessed the Waveland police taking care of a domestic disturbance.

Officer Kevin McIntosh and Officer Gene Boswell were polite and courteous in trying to calm the man, but he was completely out of control. The officers had to wrestle the man to the ground to restrain him. The officers had more control than we do, because at no time did they hit him or use vulgar language.

Officer Brett Ladner and Officer Frank Miller arrived in the middle of all this. They were also polite and courteous.

It made us proud to live in Waveland, knowing we have this type of police force. Thank you, officers.

Fordice to address Law Enforcement Breakfast

Governor Kirk Fordice will be the principal speaker at the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission's 10th annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Breakfast on Wednesday, May 13 at 7:30 a.m. at the Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi. Royal Walker, executive director of the Mississippi Gaming Commission, Attorney General Mike Moore, U.S. Attorney George Phillips and State Senator Vic Franckiewicz are also on the agenda at the breakfast held to honor all law and safety personnel from Jackson, Harrison and Hancock counties.

A special feature of this year's breakfast will be the announcement and presentation of the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission's first LEAD (Law Enforcement Award of Distinction) trophy to the outstanding lawman chosen from the three Coast counties.

The Crime Commission is a non-profit, non-partisan, nonpolitical organization whose members are concerned, committed citizens dedicated to civic improvement through citizen involvement.

The Commission's thrust is in safeguarding the public interest by monitoring the community for potential criminal problems, oversight of activities of public officials, initiating crime prevention programs and providing community support for efficient and effective law enforcement.

"We expect over 500 lawmen, firemen and their enthusiastic supporters," said Hubert Cowand, chairman of the event.

The Crime Commission is pleased to point out that all tickets given to law enforcement and safety personnel for their breakfast are donated by local Coast businesses and members of the Commission. These donations enable us to provide the breakfast and have these timely speakers to honor these brave men and women," Cowand stated.

Tickets can also be purchased for $10 from the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission's office by calling 864-9885 Monday through Thursday,, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Seating is limited.

Transit line rolls along

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Coast Area Transit Route 12 had a total of 25 passengers last weekend.

According to Coast Area Transit assistant executive director Keith Ballard, confusion over time schedules and stop locations last week detered higher passenger usage.

"This week," he stated, "we are going through the Bay St. Louis and Waveland areas, leaving handout schedules at the major stores and public buildings.

Ballard said the schedules show the stop locations and corresponding times of bus arrivals/departures. He added the Route 12 bus will stop anywhere along the route if it is hailed by a passenger and can pull over safely. Every stop at Church Avenue in Pass Christian is timed to coincide with the connecting Beachcomber line which extends into Gulfport and Biloxi. Fare changes will be required at National and Church Avenue. Route 12 fare is $1; the all-day pass is $2, and does apply to all connecting lines; children under 6 years old ride free; students with transit ID pay 50 cents; senior citizens and handicapped with transit ID pay 35 cents.

Transit IDs can be purchased for $2 at the Coast Area Transit office at 333 DeBuys Road in Gulfport. Students need proof of enrollment; seniors proof of age 60 or over and handicapped need a form signed by physician which can be mailed upon request for completion.

The Route 12 bus will operate on the frequency of every one hour and 20 minutes, Saturdays and Sundays only. The bus will run from 10:15 a.m. to 8:10 p.m.

Stennis awarded $1.9 million for testing program

NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center has been awarded $1.9 million toward the development of a testing facility for new technologies in support of the X-30 National Aero-Space Plane (NASP) program. The National Aero-Space Plane program is jointly funded by NASA and the U.S. Department of Defense.

Stennis Space Center was fuselage. The engines burn a mix of hydrogen carried aboard and oxygen scooped up from the atmosphere during flight. The vehicle also will have a lowspeed propulsion system for takeoff and landing; small rockets will give the aero-space plane a final boost into orbit and slow it down for re-entry.

The NASP's High Heat Flux Facility at Stennis Space Cenrenheit. The data received form this facility will enable NASP engineers to determine if there was any damage to the material and how the heat was distributed.

NASA's Patrick Scheuermann, acting manager of the recently-formed NASP program office at SSC, said, "The plane will be traveling at speeds up to Mach 25, and that generates a lot of heat in the atmosphere. The materials that NASA and the Department of Defense want to test here at SSC will either be in the combustion chamber, the nozzle or the outer skin of the plane where temperatures can reach in excess of 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit."

The NASA/Department of Defense National Aero-Space

Plane Joint Program Office is expected to allocate a total of $4.5 million to SSC for the development of the High Heat Flux Facility. The value of existing cryogenic equipment and test capability at SSC is included in the total value of $11 million.

Stennis Space Center's new role in testing materials for the National Aero-Space Plane is part of the technology development stage of the program. In the future, SSC's participation in the NASP may be increased to include expansion of the High Heat Flux Facility for testing of the plane's thermal structure. In addition, SSC may become the site for testing NASP components and engines which would require the construction of major new selected for NASP testing because of the center's experience in propulsion testing over the past 30 years, the experienced personnel and the existing facilities. Recently, SSC was designated as NASA's center of excellence for large propulsion systems testing.

The funding allocated to Stennis Space Center is for developing and equipping a High Heat Flux Facility, designed to test materials for the National Aero-Space Plane over a 3½-year period. The facility is expected to be completed next April, with the first test scheduled for August 1993. The X-30 will be a flight test vehicle that will take off horizontally, fly into orbit at speeds of up to Mach 25 using airbreathing engines as its primary propulsion, then return through the atmosphere to land on a runway.

Technology from the X-30 prototype vehicle could be used in the future for the development of the next generation of advanced tactical fighters or for the development of a "human ferry" from Earth to Space Station Freedom and back.

The "lifting body" shape of the X-30 will produce aerodynamic lift as the aero-space plane rushes through the air. This allows for smaller wings than would be possible with a more conventional design.

Twin vertical tails will give the X-30 good stability and control during the atmospheric parts of its flight path. Two pilots will fly the X-30 from a cockpit in a blister near the Local Boy Reported Safe. Official Washington Report Confirms Joyou's News--Family Rejoices.

Possibly the greatest happiness on Christmas Day, 1941, enjoyed in any home in Bay St. Louis was that of the Emile Perre family who are now in receipt of news from Washington confirming the safety of their son, Leon Louis Perre, who two weeks ago was reported missing after the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor in which so many American soldiers and sailors were lost and injured.

The telegram two weeks ago reported that Leon (Toto) Perre, who was in active duty in the Hawaiian Islands was lost. It was sent from the Bureau of Navigation at-Washington and received by his parents on Dec. 15.

The residents of Bay St., Louis joined the Perre family in the good news received about their son's safety.

HHS play, discussion to focus on AIDS

The Gulfport Little Theatre's production of 'On Tidy Endings,' under the direction of Dr. Larry Heller, will be presented to the students of Hancock High School May 8 at 1 p.m.

The play is a roller coaster drama about how people are being emotionally affected by those who suffer from AIDS. The cast includes Tonya Sanders Hays, Curtis Quate, Sally Rodrique, and Jack ()hman. Stage manager is Larry Timmerman.

Following the play, a panel of specialists will present and answer questions of the student body on the subject of AIDS. The panel will include Dr. E. Davidson, Father Ken Hamilton, Debbie Webb. Betty Brunner, Keith Brunner, and several persons who are

"With the presentation of good theatre and an open question and answer period, a memorable, emotional, and highly educational experience will be offered to the students at Hancock High School,"

Dominion science winners

Charles Delcuze, left, and Alicia Stieffel received honorable mention and third place awards, respectively, for their physics entries in the elementary and junior high categories at the recent regional science fair. Both are students at Dominion Christian Academy.

Bay Wreckers claim U-14 state title

The Bay Area Youth Soccer Wreckers won the Premier Division State U-14 title May 3 in Greenville.

The team tied Greenwood 1-1 and defeated Northeast Jackson 4-0 in bracket play to advance to the semi-finals. where they defeated Greenville

In the finals, the Wreckers came back to defeat Brandon 3-2 after trailing by two goals in the third quarter.

Coach John Scafide said, "The girls showed tremendous character and courage in the second half of the championship game. When we were down by two goals, it would have been easy for them to give up; instead they fought back and won.

"Our defense fought superbly, giving up only three goals in four games. Our offense showed great balance, with seven different girls scoring goals in the tournament.

"Many of the girls on our team have been to the champmakip game before, but this as their first state title, which makes this one extra special."

The team is sponsored by Mike Perniciaro's Wrecker Service and coached by Scafide and Mike Perniciaro. Their overall record for the 1991-92 season

SSC guest

Former Saints football player Archie Manning will be special guest at the annual St. Stanislaus Alumni Association Invitational Golf Tournament Friday, May 8 at Diamondhead Country Club's Cardinal Course. Some 170 golfers are participating in the event, which begins with a shotgun start at 9 a.m.

SSC ends baseball season with 4-3 loss to Picayune

An early lead in the first inning wasn't enough to sustain the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws Saturday as the Rocks lost a close one to the Picayune Maroon Tide 4-3.

Rock coach Tim Burns com-mented, "We played a good team and we made some mistakes, and those mistakes cost us. We feel that if we hadn't made the mistakes, we could have won the game.'

In the first inning, SSC rallied after two outs with an Adam Breerwood single and a Johnny Rutherford double. Brady Price singled to right to score Rutherford, bringing the score to 2-0.

The Tide surged back in the second, scoring two runners on Rock miscues to tie the game. Picayune's Dustin Spiers, who got on base with a single, advanced to second on a wild pitch. A misplayed ball on the next play enabled Spiers to

The score held until the fifth. when Picayune went to 3-2 in the top of the inning, and SSC came back in the bottom to tie

Picayune's Jason Pigott scored the winning run for the Tide in the seventh, getting on base with a single up the middle, moving to second on a balk and taking the last two bases on a misfielded hit by Spiers.

Burns said, "We had a great season; it was just sad to see it end that way. The team felt they could have gone a little farther than they did.

SSC stands at 15-12 for the season and 9-3 in district play.

Three from SSC go to state meet

Three St. Stanislaus track team members will advance to the State meet tomorrow in Jackson.

SSC assistant coach Andy Kivlan said two jumpers and one runner qualified last week at the South State meet in D'Iberville: Vince Moran, who won the high jump with a vault of 6'6"; Gene Moran, who placed second at 6'5"; and Chris Kehoe, who placed fourth in the 3200-meter run.

Picayune tops Dist. 8 4-A tournament at Diamondhead

Picayune took first place in the recent District 84-A Golf Tournament hosted at Diamondhead by St. Stanislaus and Hancock High School. Team scores were Picayune, 338; second place, D'Iberville, 345; third place, St. Stanislaus, 355; fourth place, Hancock High, 365; fifth place, East Central, 378; sixth place, Pearl River Central, 408; and seventh place, St.

Individual low medalists were Reagan Stockstill of Picayune, 76; Coby Scarborough, Picayune, 80; and Brian Stoddard of D'Iberville, SSC coach Chuck Genin expressed gratitude to the Diamondhead community for their support during the practice rounds and

Shawntel, daughter of Gary and Trudy Cuevas of Standard Community, averaged 8.1 points, 4.0 assists, 3.6 rebounds and 3.0 steals for the Division 8 Class 4-A runner-up

A member of the varsity basketball team for four years, she received the varsity basketball most improved player award and was voted most athletic senior girl of Hancock

In track competition she placed first in the District onemile, first in the District twomile and third in the state, 2-mile.

Coach Alan Dedeaux said, "I have enjoyed having Shawntel on my team this year. She helped make a good team better. We will miss her. I'm looking forward to watching her play at the junior college level. I feel she will set an example for others to follow." PRCC head coach Polly Kirkland said, "Shawntel is walking into a situation where she will have the opportunity to play. "I am impressed with Shawntel's strength and looking forward to having her on the team. At the junior college level we play a very physical game, and I know Shawntel will fit right in. I am very excited with the team's possibilities this year."

offense smothered a good Pearl defense the entire contest, while Melissa Matherne and other fullbacks only allowed the ball to cross mid-field a couple of times.

The semi-final game, a 4-1 victory over host Greenville, was the most physical contest of the weekend. Ashley Artigues and other forwards beat Greenville's high-rated defense into such a state of confusion that they actually scored a goal for the Sidekicks.

Meredith Quinlan and other fullbacks had to shut down the biggest and fastest front line seen all year.

The team started to show fatique in the final match against Northeast Jackson.

Excellent play was noted in the defensive middle by Patches Moran and Kacey Edwards, with great left-side dominance by Jamie Robertson and Kimberly Storey.

The offense had pounded a "stacked" net defense for 58 minutes without a goal when they worked the ball in to Amanda Kingston, who scored with only two minutes left in the game. The championship was the culmination of nine months of hard work, said coach Les Fillingame, who commended the parents and assistant coach Neil Favre for their support. Six of the 13 girls were first-year soccer players, he noted.

One of the most thoughtful Mother's Day presents you can give your Mom this year isn't roses or jewelry--it's the gift of a mammography screening. And Slidell Memorial Hospital has just made it easier to give her the precious gift of life. For a limited time, we've lowered the price of our mammogram to $49.00. You'll receive a lovely gift certificate for a complete screening mammogram, including Radiologists' fees.

One in every nine women is a victim of breast cancer, but early detection greatly improves a woman's chances for recovery. The American Cancer Society recommends that every woman over age 35 receive a baseline mammogram screening. Annual screenings are recommended for women over age 50.

There might be prettier things you can give your Mother this Mother's Day, but none so important as the gift of a mammogram at the Regional Women's Center at Slidell Memorial Hospital. Call us now at 646-0560 for information or stop by the Breast Diagnostic Center or Women's Resource Suite to purchase your mammography gift certificate.
